DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Claims 1,3,4,17,19,20,33-36 are pending.

Claims 2,5-16,18,21-32 have been canceled.

The 35 USC 103 rejection of claims 1,3,4,17,19 and 20 has been withdrawn based on applicant's amendment filed on May 23, 2005.

The 35 USC 112 second paragraph rejection has been withdrawn.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed May 23, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding applicant's arguments on page 7 pertaining to new claim 33, where applicant describes the electrode having a conductive upper curve region and argues that the cited reference does not disclose a conductive curve region but only discloses an insulating film (CaF). Applicant's attention is directed to page 4 of the office action, which describes the electrode having a film (5) as an insulator for protection against halogen substances and the film is made of copper fluoride [applicant's comprising copper], as disclosed by the cited prior art of Hori et al in column 19 lines 45-46. Furthermore, it is well understood in the art that copper fluoride is a conductive metal halide.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 33 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hori et al (PN 6,810,061) in view of Ujazdowski et al (PN 6,654,403).

Regarding claim 33,

Hori et al illustrates in figure 1B a gas discharge laser having Fluorine gas, column 13 lines 16-20 and having a pair of discharge electrodes (2) and (3) [applicant's lower portion], where each electrode includes a film (5) [applicant's upper curve region] disposed on the discharge parts (2a) and 3(a) [applicant's footprint]. Column 19 lines 11-12, describes the film (5) as an insulator and in column 19 lines 43-46 discloses the film as a halogen-resistant substance made of copper fluoride [applicant's comprising copper]. In column 19 lines 17-24 Hori discloses, different metals used for the main discharge electrodes, which includes brass [where brass has benefit of applicant's CIP].

However, Ujazdowski et al discloses in column 7 lines 25-29, the use of aluminum bronze as the electrode [applicant's copper alloy].

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to replace the electrode Ujazdowski et al with the electrode of Hori et al because it is more resistant to fluoride attacks than brass, column 7 lines 25-29 of Ujazdowski et al.

Regarding claim 35,

In column 20 lines 5-21 Hori et al discloses a method of bonding the film (5) to the electrodes [applicant's two pieces of material].

The limitation pertaining to the machined from two pieces of material is considered a product –by-processs in accordance with MPEP 2113, as such the claim is not limited to recited steps but only, by the implied structure.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1,3,4,17,19,20 are allowed based on applicant's amendment.

Claims 34 and 26 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
